YEARS.

Your credit is good for $5,000.00, providing you can invest $2000 in one of the best improved ranches in the Mesilla valley. It is jocated 28 miles north of El Paso, one mile from La Mesa (the second best town in the valley, good schools and good American settlement). Contains seventy acres; fifty acres in fine stand of alfalfa, three acres in young fruit trees, one acre in hand planted cottonwood grove; and sixteen acres in wheat which will yield not less than fifty bushels to the acre. This means a good living for you, while you are making the place pay for itself, and in a few years will be independent for life.

This pretty place is on one of the best and cheapest ditches in the valley, having plenty of water at 40 cents per acre per year.

If you are interested in valley lands, don't fail to see this rare bargain. It will not last long, See Balley, the Man Who Knows the Valley,
